
Moruya Trip Australia Day Weekend - Jan 2007

Posted by peterf - 2007/01/13 18:30

Latest summary:

Most probably Friday.

Leave The Oaks 9-10am

Leave Moruya 2-4pm

4 planes so far

158 is still likely to be available, check with the bookings officer.

See the Expeditions page (http://srfc.org.au/web/index.php?option=com_content&task=blogcategory&id=15&Itemid=33) for a map of the trip.

We are planning a day trip to Moruya during the Australia Day weekend.

Moruya is 2hrs flight time (Lightwing) south of The Oaks, on the coast.

Reply to this post if you are interested. Currently Joe and I will be going.

158 should be available for hire. First to book gets it.

Not sure which day yet. Either Friday, Saturday or Sunday, depending on the most suitable day for most pilots. So nominate your preferred days.

Leave in the morning, have a swim there and fly back in the afternoon.

Expect to fly down inland and return coastal.

More info to come shortly.

Cheers,
Peter

Pete

Saturday's a bit doubtful for me and Claire.

Sunday would be better at this stage, I'm trying to pin down exactly what we are doing on Saturday.

BTW if anyone wants 158, for this trip, you're too late :-)

Mark

Pete

Just realised you mention Friday, Australia Day, as a possibility, definitely out for me.

Also what is the proposed getaway time for this trip ? 0900 for noon ?

Dudes,

OK, lets plan for Sunday at the moment.

How about 9-10am leave The Oaks.
2-4pm leave Moruya.

Sunset should be around 8pm or so.

After further discussion, Friday is looking like the better day.

Feel free to discuss.

Cheers

Forecast for Friday

A little early drizzle then fine. Mostly sunny afternoon. Light winds tending northeasterly and freshening during the afternoon.

Friday: Wind:Variable 5 knots turning N/NE 15/25 knots in the afternoon.

Looks like a slow flight back.
